2025-2026 PROGRAMS and ELIGIBILITY

Our Toddlers and Our Twos Attend 9:00am-1:00pm

Our Threes and our Fours Attend Hours - 9:00am. -12:00pm, with an extended day option to 1:00pm

The children are taught in a caring and welcoming environment by a lead teacher and an assistant teacher. Each class follows a daily schedule, providing a predictable routine including guided play, free play, circle time, story time, art time, and music. We foster social and emotional development, encouraging independence, confidence, and communication. The teachers design activities that are meaningful and reflect the interests of the children, therefore inspiring feelings of both success and positive self-esteem. Each teaching team maintains a private Facebook group for videos, pictures, and a look into the classroom. Brightwheel, a communication platform with many other features, is being integrated into our program's daily operation.

Things to keep in mind:

Arts & crafts activities can be messy. Therefore, children should wear comfortable play clothes each day that will not be ruined by paint or glue. Outside play is scheduled each day, weather permitting. Please send in LABELED coats, hats, and mittens during chilly weather months. Please avoid sandals and Crocs, opting for socks and shoes instead. Each child will bring his/her lunch each day, including a beverage, napkin, and any utensils he/she may need. Parents are required to sign-up to assist with providing daily mid-morning snacks. Please discuss any potty-training concerns with the teachers. They will gladly collaborate with you to support your efforts.

All students participate in weekly music classes. Students in the threes and fours also participate in literacy class, chapel, movement class and STEM class. Parents of children enrolled in the four-year-old program should also expect occasional field trips.

PRESCHOOL PROGRAMS

Curriculum Information

We practice a child-centered emergent curriculum, providing intentional, meaningful learning experiences, with a strong focus on literacy. Our curriculum addresses the following developmental domains; social/emotional development, physical development, cognitive development, language development and communication skills.

We use Foundations: Early Learning Standards for North Carolina Preschoolers and Strategies for Guiding Their Success to determine age-appropriate goals and objectives for our students. This publication provides early learning standards and expectations for developmentally appropriate practice. Foundations is a guide for teachers, administrators, families, or any adult working with preschool children in North Carolina.

We incorporate strategies from Dr. Becky Bailey's Conscious Discipline into our curriculum. Conscious Discipline is a comprehensive classroom management program and a social-emotional curriculum. Our staff members receive ongoing Conscious Discipline training.

Many of our teachers have also been trained in Handwriting Without Tears, which they skillfully integrate into our curriculum. Handwriting Without Tears is a developmentally appropriate handwriting program.

We will introduce our students to the Letterland characters and provide the ideal foundation for kindergarten and the Letterland phonics program offered by the WCPSS.

To prepare the children for kindergarten...

- We engage children in activities for visual learners, auditory learners, and kinesthetic learners.
- We enhance oral language development and phonemic awareness.
- We offer poems, rhymes and alliteration while learning about each letter in the alphabet.
- We experiment with a variety of writing activities and opportunities.
- We use songs, dictations, stories, poems, and finger plays to enhance both oral and receptive language development.
- We use show & tell, webbing and brainstorming to enrich vocabulary.
- We collaborate while problem solving and critically thinking as a team. This allows the children to acquire mathematical concepts while enhancing their communication skills.
- We offer a variety of experiences and activities to encourage familiarity with letter sounds. This includes having a letter of the week in the fours program.
- We incorporate literacy rich experiences in all facets of our program.
- We begin to introduce sight words to our students.

ENRICHMENT PROGRAMS

To enhance our curriculum, we offer a variety of enrichment programs.

Each Week – All ages

All students attend Music class. In music class students are introduced to basic music appreciation involving an understanding of the elements of music, musical forms, musical styles, and the enjoyment of participating in class.

Monthly and Scheduled Programs – Threes and Fours

Students three and older participate in enrichment programs.

STEM Class - This hands-on class covers topics such as sinking and floating, life cycles, static electricity, and others in a small group environment.

Movement Class - This is a gross motor activity class. Students enjoy activities such as parachute games, ribbon stick dances, scarf dances, and obstacle courses, just to name a few.

Chapel - Our senior Pastor and children's Pastor offer chapel opportunities. Chapel is a time to share stories from the Bible that will enrich children from any religious or non-religious background. Our intention is for each of our students to know they are loved by God and Christ without any judgment.

Occasional Programs – Threes and Fours

Letterland/Literacy- Students will participate in a literacy enrichment activity designed to expand the literacy curriculum beyond the classroom.

Field Trips – Fours

Parents of children enrolled in the four-year-old program should expect field trips. Typically, we visit the pumpkin farm in the fall and the strawberry patch in the spring. They are designed to enrich the curriculum and foster a sense of community.

Discipline Policy – please retain this copy for your records

When it comes to discipline, the American Academy of Pediatrics recommends establishing a positive, supportive, and loving relationship with your child. Without this foundation, a child has no reason, other than fear, to demonstrate good behavior. They also recommend the use of positive reinforcement to encourage the behavior you want from your child.

(The above script is part of the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) radio series 'A Minute for Kids,' which airs weekdays on WBBM-AM in Chicago, IL.)

NAEYC, the National Association for the Education of Young Children, promotes positive guidance. Positive guidance focuses on helping children learn the expectations for behavior as well as what it means to be a member of a community. It means helping children learn from their mistakes and make positive choices.

Keeping the above in mind, our staff incorporates Dr. Becky Bailey's Conscious Discipline into our curriculum. Conscious Discipline is a proven, comprehensive approach that empowers adults with the skills to create a safe, connected, problem-solving classroom environment. Conscious Discipline also equips teachers with skills to integrate social-emotional learning, discipline, and self-regulation, thus reducing time spent policing behavior and increasing time teaching vital skills.

Policy

We will provide appropriate discipline using positive reinforcement and logical consequences to encourage competence, self-control, self-direction, and caring for others. Staff will maintain open communication with parents regarding behavior management and effective discipline.

The Staff and Board at Benson Memorial UMC Preschool Programs have outlined the following strategies for appropriate and effective discipline using the training we have received in Conscious Discipline.

Here are some strategies for strengthening positive, appropriate behavior:

- Maintain a safe emotional atmosphere where children feel warmth and affection, and where trusting relationships are built on positive, supportive interactions.
- Provide a consistent routine in the form of scheduling daily activities.
- Develop a predictable classroom environment.
- Have developmentally appropriate expectations.
- Define and teach expectations.
- Model appropriate classroom behaviors.
- Acknowledge appropriate behavior and respond consistently to challenging behavior.
- Provide positive reinforcement for positive behavior.
- Provide support for undesired behaviors. Listening to and talking with children about what we see and strategizing how to better solve problems or tackle challenges.
- Respond consistently to similar situations and behaviors so that expectations are clear.
- Encourage children to recognize their own behaviors and the behaviors of others, while learning what emotions may be causing these behaviors. We also encourage the children to use words to express their emotions.
